

CONTENTS

	Page No
1. Editor's Note Sunanda Mukherjee	i-iii
2. The Fallacy of Advancement: Shattering Societies in Ray Bradbury's The Pedestrian and The Bright Phoenix Sonal	1-10
3. "I understand you and it will forever bring me sadness that you do not understand me": Emotion and Morality in Artificial Intelligence Triasha Ghoshal	11-23
4. Always Late Capitalism: Quantity not Quality in the Age of the Infoglut Richard Snowden-Leak	24-34
5. Disrupting the Algorithm: A Literary Exploration of Human-Machine Interaction in Kazuo Ishiguro's Klara and the Sun Sreya Mukherjee	35-46
6. Cybernetic and Cyborg Shifts of Authorship in 21 st Century Literature J Andros	47-63
7. AIs are gonna look back on us: Analyzing (Dis)Embodied Ava in Ex Machina (2014), a 'Fembot' and Sex-bot in Making Manisha Bhattacharya	64-77

8. The New Faustian Bargain: Technoscientific Capitalism and the Posthuman Condition in Mark Ravenhill's Faust is Dead 78-91
Arnab Sengupta
9. Of Robots and Unicorns: An Ecocritical Study of Postcolonial Science Fiction in Satyajit Ray's Prof. Shonku Stories 92-103
Tungabhadra Banerjee
10. Beyond Humanity: Exploring Automaton, Robots, and Cyborgs in the Tapestry of Science Fiction Cinema 104-115
Debanjana Banerjee
11. Posthumanism and Biopunk in Cyberpunk Japanese Animations 116-130
Ankita Ghosh
12. Contributors. 131-133